About the State

Parties returning from Mount Mansfield Monday report snow in abundance in the crevices there and that one of the entertainments enjoyed was a snow-battle.

E. L. Barrows, while operating the elevator at the Morrisville Messenger office Saturday, lost control of it and was struck on the hand, breaking his thumb, and received a blow on the head, which inflicted a bad cut.

Charles Ward of Pownal was found in a drying condition Monday afternoon in an open field near the Morgan trolley line. He expired without recovering consciousness, death being due to alcoholism.

Miss Emily Martin met with a peculiar accident recently at her home in Windham. As she was about to shoot at a mark, her attention was called in another direction and, changing the position of her gun, the bullet went into the calf of her leg.

The first arrest in Bennington county for violation of the six-month law this season was made in Readsboro Friday, when Alfred D. Sprague of Readsboro was found with 12 trout in a basket, one of one of which was six inches long. He was fined $1.00 for each of the trout, with costs of $3.85. The $13.85 was paid by John S. Carrier, Sprague's employer, and the fisherman was released.

A fire of unknown origin completely destroyed E. P. Squires' steam saw mill in Guilford during the night Tuesday, June 21. Samuel Boden, who lives on a carpet near the mill, knew nothing of the fire until it arose in the morning, when all that was left was smoldering ruins. It is a great loss to Mr. Squires at this time, as a large quantity of lumber was waiting to be sawed. The saw, belt and other machinery will have to be replaced, but it is thought the boiler is not damaged.

Mrs. Alma J. Goodenough, aged 78 years, was operated upon last week at her home in Brattleboro for the removal of part of a tumor from her right foot. During the last month, Mrs. Goodenough had experienced a pricking sensation in her foot at frequent intervals, but had not guessed the cause. The piece removed was nearly three-fourths of an inch in length and was the pointed end of a carpet needle. Mrs. Goodenough, after the operation, recalled the fact that she broke such a needle, while sewing, but did not know when she got it into her foot.

John Chymack of West Rutland was painfully injured Saturday at the Albers quarry, when a large electric cutting machine was run back upon his hand, inflicting an ugly wound. He put his hand on the track on which the machine runs, when another man reversed the machine and did not notice Mr. Chymack's hand until it was too late to prevent the accident. The flange of the wheel split the hand between the third and little finger nearly the whole length of the palm, and the little finger was jammed so badly that he may lose part or all of it.

A thunder storm in Townshend, June 19, played good pranks in the house of J. H. Morse, entering the kitchen, where it broke the chalkstone sink, just after Miss Laura Ware had stepped away from it. The current then passed into the sitting room, where it ran over the piano, and then, when it reached the telephone, burst out of the batteries. The couple of the barn at the same place was struck, smashing several of the shutters and knocking off a quantity of slate. Mr. Ware and his men stood in the barn door and felt the shock in a minor degree, their rain-drenched clothes probably keeping them from a worse fate.

A bellows Falls contractor in excavating for a wall came upon an old buried stone oven built 20 feet or more back into a bank, the entrance to which had become covered and most people had forgotten its existence. It was built about 1860 by Jacob Hills, an eccentric miser, who died in 1871 and in his fifty-room was found a number of hundred dollars in gold in a box and securities amounting to many thousands. At the time of his death he owned all the real estate between the Bellows Falls Trust company's building and School street and some valuable water powers. It was said he slept nights in the oven for years in order to keep warm without the expense of a fire and to be free from tormenting boys.

Unless the plants are covered very deeply they will come out and straighten up without aid. With the first cultivation of corn, the full attention of the operator should be given to running the gangs and furrows closely as possible to the rows. Getting all weeds killed close to the hills is the first essential. At the first cultivation the inner shovels may be run within an inch of the stalks without injury to them. This will loosen the soil about the plants so that the surface will dry out and the weeds immediately about and in the hills will die. Get just as close to the corn the first time as you can and at subsequent cultivations work the gangs and shovels further away. Corn, like animals, must be kept growing thriftily while young. For this reason the second and third cultivation should follow closely after the first. Run the shovels shallow when the root begin to all the soil between rows. Keep the surface fine and even.

Doctors' Prescriptions. It has been proved over and over again that the doctors of this country freely prescribe proprietary medicines in Latin for their patients until they are advertised to the public, after which time they consider it a duty to immediately condemn the very same medicine, not because the preparation is any less valuable, but because it is not "ethical" to prescribe an advertised medicine. There are, however, many physicians of recognized standing broad-minded and successful enough to continue to prescribe such standard remedies as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which they know to be good.

Kept the King at Home. "For the past year we have kept the king of all lacticifers, Dr. King's New Life Pills—in our home, and they have proved a blessing to all our family," writes Paul Mathukis of Buffalo, N. Y. "I have, but sure remedy for all stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Only 25c at the Red Cross Pharmacy."
